MISS CLAIRE Scott.—This lady, supported by Mr. S. K. Coburn, and a fair company, appeared at De Give's Opera House last night in the character of "Lucretia and last night in the character of "Luc Borgia," to quite a magnificent andience.

The dreaded Borgia is a character hard to interpret and difficult to impersonate. Miss Scott's quick transition from the contemplation of a diabolical revenge to the almost idolatrous love for Genarro; then in the court scene when pleading for his life; and her personations of the doting mother and her personations of the doting mother and demoniac duchess, bore evidence of her being an actress of merit. She possesses superb physique, mobile features, grace of gestures and a voice strengthened to the retrievance of the process of the strengthened to the retrievance of the process of the process of the personal transfer of the process of the personal transfer of the personations of the doting mother and demoniac duchess, bore evidence of her being an actress of merit. She possesses superb physique, mobile features, grace of gestures and a voice strengthened to the personal transfer of the personal transfe gestures and a voice strengthened to the tragic tones, and we see in her the promise of a future queen in the realm of highest dramatic art. She has every facility to realize her ambition and doubtless the courage to demand that success which her abilities command. Though at the threshold only of her career she displays grand powers to hold the hearts of her hearers and play upon upon them through the full gamut of the emotions. The support last night was very good and antiafactory.

MERCHANT'S GARGLING OH.,—We have made special personal inquiry in regard to the merits of this celebrated remedy, and find it a genuine article of rare value. It is by no means a new remedy. The establishment which produces it dates its manufacture as far back as 1838, since which time it has been steadily growing in public favor. The patentees are among the foremost business men of the city of Lockport. They are every way reliable.

From the Tolcdo (Ohio) Blade, July 6, 1871.

MERCHANT'S GARGLING OH.—This Old MERCHANT'S GARGING OIL.—This Old standard article, under the admirable management of John Hodge, Esq., has reached an enormous sale. It is an honestly compounded article; it has merit, and now that the best business talent of the country is handling it, there is no reason why it should not double its present usefulness. No family can afford to be without it. For family use, as well as for animals, it is simply Indisponsable.
